Certificate of Appreciation

It gives me great pleasure to write this certificate for Khushi Walia, a conscientious volunteer with The Sanshil Foundation. Khushi has shown an exemplary display of compassion, knowledge, and talent while working with the Sanshil Foundation and the Underprivileged children studying at our learning centre, BAGIYA.

Khushi's primary responsibility was to teach basic computer skills to rural women from Jharsa village, as well as students from Classes 1 to 7. The topics covered included typing, using MS Paint, understanding the components of a computer, and using MS Office. She planned and conducted interactive sessions to make learning engaging for young students. She had to adapt my communication style according to the age group and learning pace of each student, which improved my patience and flexibility as an instructor. In addition to teaching, she supported the teachers in maintaining and organising key foundation records. This included managing student data, tracking uniform distribution, and updating records in Google Sheets and MS Excel.

She turned each session into a lively, interactive, and inspiring participation filled with curiosity, excitement, and imagination.

At a tender age, Khushi has raised the bar of volunteering with his humility and abilities to connect with the students at BAGIYA. She has successfully established a very beautiful association that will be remembered for a long time to come. Rarely does one come across a volunteer like Khushi, who comes to BAGIYA with full enthusiasm and gives a completely new dimension to community service. She taught the students with detailed planning, patience and a soft approach that left a lasting impression on the students.

With a natural flair for community service, Khushi's major contribution has been noteworthy for her commitment and discipline during the entire execution of the Project.

It has been a very enriching experience to work with Khushi. I wish her the best in her future endeavours.
